G Printing Launches Its New Online Printing Ordering System

Last update: 5:18 p.m. EDT July 28, 2008

LOS ANGELES, CA, Jul 28, 2008 (MARKET WIRE via COMTEX) -- G Printing is proud to announce the launch of its new online ordering system www.printwithg.com. Their online product line was created to help marketing buyers purchase and track their current printed materials in a simplistic manner. G Printing started with the most common items in its product line. The original launch of the website was created to help companies simplify their ordering process of collateral material. As a Los Angeles printer and a Las Vegas printer, G Printing understands the value to their clients when it comes to a high-quality printed product delivered on time at a cost-effective price.

Business card printing and postcard printing is a highly competitive part of the printing industry. G Printing's backend production is based on a streamlined workflow, so making the jump to a manual quoting process to an online ordering process wasn't a stretch for the company. The key for them was to identify a significant advantage in the market place. Led by their parent company G Advertising (www.advertisewithg.com) executives they were able to identify a market need and have developed a system to meet this need. The simplicity of ordering and re-ordering common materials such as business cards and postcards enables a company's marketing director or purchasing agent to order and rely on a quick delivery with an accuracy rate that would fit in with an IT company's up time (99.99%).

Quick, accurate, and on time was the foundation of creating this online ordering system. Keep it simple has been the motto from the get go. An individual can create an account, select products, upload the files that correspond and within 3 - 5 business days receive the items they have ordered. Currently the G Printing website is offering a sample of its entire product line. Products not included in the ordering system can be ordered by contacting the company directly (info@printwithg.com) or by filling out the custom order form online. Once a customer places an order, the files for that order are stored on G's servers and can be re-ordered without any upload. Keep it simple.

G Printing believes that top-quality printing, matched with great pricing, is the key to the success of their clients. G Printing is dedicated to using the highest quality materials with the most advanced technologies available in the printing industry. They pay close attention to every order to ensure that they are completed accurately and efficiently, so when you pass your files to them you can rest easy.
